New Traffic Pattern Coming to US 301 and Symmes Road

Riverview, FL – Beginning this week, US 301 traffic will shift to the east side of the road through Symmes Road, reducing travel to two lanes each way between Berner Lane and Avian Forrest Drive in Riverview, Hillsborough County.

For the next two months, expect delays or congestion on US 301 as crews replace sections of the west side of the road with concrete.

Driveways, sidewalks, side streets, and emergency vehicle access will remain open during this temporary traffic pattern.

Last month, the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT), began making improvements to the intersection of US 301 and Symmes Road. This project is replacing the asphalt pavement with a durable concrete surface, performing drainage improvements, and updating ramps and sidewalks to ADA standards. Also, new traffic signals to be installed at US 301 and Shady Preserve Drive, Rhodine Road, and Summerfield Boulevard/Ramble Creek Drive.

Construction activities are expected to finish in early 2027, weather permitting.

Slow down, stay alert, and drive safely in the work zone.
